

About 'Gateway to Go'

The purpose of this book is to make learning and enjoying Go accessible to everyone through five short lessons.

Its purpose also is to contribute to the spread of a community that enjoys Go, supporting the mission of "Go For A Better World," which is to promote Go and prevent dementia.

The planning for this book was undertaken by Jake Kim, founder of "Go For A Better World," a nonprofit organization started in the United States that has recently opened operations in Korea. To fulfill the mission of reducing the risk of dementia through the expansion of Go, "Go For A Better World," in collaboration with "DoDream Education," which is a Go education specialist, developed this book.

Through learning and playing Go, both organizations believe cognitive functions, social interactions, and emotional well-being will be enhanced, thus contributing to dementia prevention.
